bitch media's best queer YA novels of 2019 author mariko tamaki and illustrator rosemary valero o'connell bring to life a sweet and spirited tale of young love in Laura Dean Keeps Breaking Up with Me a graphic novel that asks us to consider what happens when we ditch the toxic relationships we crave to embrace the healthy ones we need. Laura Dean, the most popular girl in high school, was Frederica Riley's dream girl: charming, confident, and so cute there's just one problem: Laura Dean is maybe not the greatest girlfriend. Reeling from her latest breakup, Freddy's best friend Doodle introduces her to the "seek her," a mysterious medium who leaves Freddy some cryptic parting words. Break up with her, but Laura Dean keeps coming back, and as their relationship spirals further out of her control, Freddy has to wonder if it's really Laura Dean that's the problem. Maybe it's Freddy who is rapidly losing her friends, including Doodle, who needs her now more than ever. Fortunately for Freddy, there are new friends and the insight of advice columnists like Anna Vice to help her through being a teenager in love.

Building off the argument that comics succeed as literature: rich, complex narratives filled with compelling characters interrogating the thought-provoking issues of our time, this book argues that comics are an expressive medium whose moves, structural, and aesthetic may be shared by literature, the visual arts, and film. But beyond this, they are a unique art form possessing qualities these other mediums do not. Drawing from a range of current comics scholarship demonstrating this point, this book explores the unique intelligence(s) of comics and how they expand the ways readers engage with the world in ways different than prose or film or other visual arts. Written by teachers and scholars of comics for instructors, this book bridges research and pedagogy, providing instructors with models of critical readings around a variety of comics.
